

60 SECONDS Episode #3 “I Want To Be President”

Jack Jarvis: “When we were growing up and our parents wanted to compliment us, they sometimes said ‘Why, Jack, you’re so smart, you’ll be President someday!’ But when we think about all the negatives associated with recent oval office officials, it’s getting harder to find quality people who want to run, OR who should.”

Harley mutes the TV.

Reggie: “I never considered running for political office. The thought of shaking that many hands always made my, uh, HAND go limp.”

Harley: “I love to shake hands! I think I’d make a great President!”

Reggie: “OK, I haven’t eaten any of Jenny’s peanuts yet today, so I’ll bite. Why would you (hic) make a great President?”

Harley: “I’m fair, no matter what, I’d ask questions if I didn’t understand an issue, and then when all the facts were in I’d know exactly how to make things right.”

Reggie: “We are talking about planet Earth and American politics, right?”

Jenny: “I was about to ask the same thing!”

Harley: “Don’t go all negative on me, you guys! The making of America never stops and I could be an important voice. I’d know what to say to voters as well as to fellow politicians to get them all on my side, and then I’d be real fair and patient towards those who disagreed! You could be my campaign manager, Reg, and Jenny could coordinate all of my volunteers to get out and get the vote...”

We see a thought bubble of the different ‘Gates’ as Reggie lists them

Reggie: “Forget it, Harl. As sure as I love to drink you’d do something that some tabloid reporter would attach the word ‘Gate’ to. Before you can be President, before either party will put your name on their ticket, you need to study the previous ‘gates’ like Watergate, Billygate, and Monicagate.”

Harley: “How about Stargate?!!! I love that show! That’s why I’d be a great President, Reg. I’d FIGHT for more good shows like Stargate!”

Reggie: “VOTE FOR HAROLD JEFFRIES! THE ONE TRUE AMERICAN!”

We see a WIDE SHOT as Reggie pats Harley on the back as Jenny throws confetti and as Harley waves to an imagined crowd, Music and Picture, FTB